PASSING OF PETE ROSS

Pete Wikoff Ross, for 28 years a principal in San Diego schools and often mentioned as "principal emeritus" of Pt. Loma High school, which he served from the time it was opened in 1925 until he resigned in Aug., 1932, died Wednesday night at his home, 3968 Park blvd., after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at Donham Bros. chapel, the Rev. John Walter Sherman, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Mr. Ross was born in Mason, O., in 1866. His father died two years later and as a boy he lived with his maternal grandfather on a farm. He attended school in St. Paul and Greensburg, Ind., where his mother was a teacher. He was graduated from the first high school class at Mason, then from Holbrook National Normal university with a B. S. degree in 1886 and from the University of Michigan with an A. B. degree in 1892.

For a time he alternated between teaching and newspaper work, doing his first teaching in 1886. In 1904 he came to California and soon accepted principalship of the old Middletown school on Elm St. When the Washington school was built in 1910 he was the first principal and in 1924, when the new Point Loma High school was nearing completion, he was selected by the board of education as its first principal. He remained there until he left the school department three years ago because of failing health.

During his long residence here Mr. Ross was a regular attendant at the First Methodist church. He was a member of the official board and a leader in the Methodist brotherhood, a Mason and a Knight of Pythias.

He had a legion of friends among students and their elders who held for him great love and respect. He was intensely patriotic, possessed of a fine sense of humor and was a type of educator who made a deep and lasting impression upon the young persons who came under his influence.

Mr. Ross was the husband of Mrs. Munn G. Ross and father of Maurice B. Ross of San Diego and Leonard Wikoff Ross of Inglewood.

Mrs. O. A. Sandusky returned home Sunday from a twenty-two weeks' siege in the hospital and is mighty glad to again be at her home, 4964 Santa Monica avenue.

Point Loma's championship basketball team were honored Wednesday at a luncheon by the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club. Winning the Metropolitan League championship, undefeated, is the record of the Lomans. The recent defeat by San Diego High school (not in the Metro league), was in the play-off for the Southern California championship which was annexed by the Hilltop squad.

Wilmer J. Beekle, better known as Joe, is the mentor for the team. Members of the team are Joaquin Qualin, Wallis Isom, Gerald Lutes, Joe Keweenaw, Kenneth Mixon, Gilbert Gonsalves, Oswald Brosseau, Fred Williams, Jack Kelly, Frank Riehle, James Keck, Dave Robinson and Noel Finley.

The Loman quartet sang two numbers. Kiwanians honored the team during the luncheon.

It is planned to award gold basketballs or a permanent trophy to the team at an assembly soon.

Saturday evening the team will be guests of honor at a dance to be given at the Ocean Beach auditorium which is the scene of the Point Loma High school dances.

Hi-Jinx, given for entertainment, proved a financial success as well. A clearance of over $125 was made on the production.

Unusually artistic effects were achieved by the "Statues" presented under the direction of Coach Beekle. Howard McCoy, thruout the act in poses typical of all sports, was a truly remarkable in his muscular control.

The GACs claimed a big hit and their beautiful dancing acts. It is difficult to single out any particular acts since it was a most excellent, however, the Loman Quartet made a big hit with the audience, both afternoon and evening.

Harlan Boucher's orchestra did so much to make the show a success Friday evening.

W. E. Shepherd always brings out a finished production, but this time he and the stage crew out did all previous records. Since the whole show was brought together in a week, the pressure on him and the crew can be realized. Too much credit can't be given to such a genius in drama directing. Our hats off to W. E. Shepherd.

Hi-Jinx proved Point Loma can put on a successful all-school show. It is hoped it will be a yearly event.

Gordon Milner has been advanced to sergeant and Bill Melson to corporal in the ROTC. Promotion was based on competitive tests.

Fred Williams and Mark Insko are recent recruits to ROTC.

Buglers Charles Allen and Jack Schaefer retain the post of sounding order for flag raising at Point Loma High school.

JIM MORRIS WILL BUILD SOON ON NEWPORT AVE.

Jim Morris of Ocean Beach Bank of America has recently purchased a lot at 4426 Newport avenue and intends to build a home there in the near future.

Enthusiastic Meeting Townsend Supporters

One hundred sixty enthusiastic Townsend club supporters attended the meeting Monday evening of the local group and enjoyed themselves from 7:30 to 12 o'clock.

The Junior Ramblers of Pacific Beach opened the program with several western musical selections followed by Mrs. Heber Hartvigsen who sang several solos accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Smith at the piano.

President Hood presided and introduced Mrs. Johnson, organization leader, who gave an interesting talk, urging the members to stand fast in their fight for their cause and not to falter though the struggle be long and difficult. She likened Dr. Townsend to a Moses, sent by divine guidance to lead the nation out of a chaos of trouble and war.

C. T. Radford who was to be the main speaker of the evening had been called to Arizona on business.

More numbers then followed by the Ramblers and refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Following refreshments Bill Walters and his old time music kept the oldsters happy until time to depart. Dancing was enjoyed until nearly 12 p. m.

PAMPHLETS TO DESTROY TOWNSEND ORGANIZATION

Washington, D. C.—The Liberty League, of which John J. Raskob is president, and Jovett Shouse manager, and which is financed by the DuPont family, is issuing a series of pamphlets defaming the Townsend plan, presenting to a gullible public a series of figures deliberately intended to destroy the Townsend organization and to maintain their own tax-dodging immunity.

Raskob is a heavy stockholder in DuPont enterprises. DuPont stocks increased in value from 1933 to 1936 one billion two hundred millions of dollars. Both are being sued by the government for tax-dodging by the transfer of stocks, back and forth, in a deliberate conspiracy to defraud to the tune of over one million dollars.

Raskob and DuPont have a tremendous volume of transactions which under the Townsend plan would be taxed two per cent. The volume of fictitious transfers of stocks by them was 28 million dollars. The two per cent tax applied to these transactions would have yielded $560,000 to the government. The yield on their legitimate transactions would run into many millions.

Under the universal application of the transactions tax, there can be no tax-dodging. Even wealthy swindlers will be forced to honesty. The great concern of these big business buccaners over the impending impoverishment of the laboring man, who, they claim, would have only $596 left after paying all taxes, is commendable were it not for the fact that millions upon millions of them would, right now, sell a year's service for that amount. Neither Raskob nor the DuPonts would deal because, having brought labor to its lowest ebb, they can, by keeping the country in poverty, buy labor cheaper.

Note also that the Liberty League circular, in deploring the plight of the lowest strata in the economic distribution of wealth, keeps scrupulously mum on what the transactions tax would do to the gang on the upper crust. Can it be that by throwing the "fear of the Lord" into the hearts of the common people—who have the votes—they seek to save their own "bacon"?—Ex.

Miss Maria Smith, of Hollywood, who is building a seven-unit stucco bungalow court on Voltaire St., was a visitor this week, with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rosenberry on Muir Ave. Mr. Rosenberry, who is superintending the construction of the court, says Miss Smith is greatly pleased with the speedy and excellent work being done by her contractors. Miss Smith will make her home here after May first.

New Owner To Open Ocean Beach Hardware

E. E. Follin on Monday purchased from the San Diego Wholesale Credit Men's association the stock and fixtures of the Ocean Beach Hardware store at 1921 Bacon St., which closed a few weeks ago. The store was conducted by John Harrison since September, 1934, and the ownership was with the North Shore Hardware & Paint Co., Inc. The old corporation will no longer have any interest whatever in the business, which now goes to the individual ownership of Mr. Follin.

Mr. and Mrs. Follin, we are told, are residents and property owners of San Diego who hope in the near future to make their home in Ocean Beach. They originally came from Chicago where Mr. Follin was an experienced wholesale paint salesman and a chemist by profession. We wish them success in their new venture.

More New Houses and Active Building

Construction is well started on a new home for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Noorda at 4645 Newport ave. where they bought vacant property a few months back. The new Noorda residence will be frame-stucco with garage to cost $4300 or better. We'll be looking for a house-warming about May 1st, Claude.

For Bees E. Bing, 4383 Montalvo street, work has started on a new frame-stucco residence and garage to cost in neighborhood of $3000.

A building permit was granted Wednesday to H. J. Golden, 4926 Del Monte avenue, for a frame-stucco residence, cost about $2500. J. L. Billups will be the builder.

With new work going ahead in most every block, there is also a lot of remodeling and building additions. Among those receiving permits this week are Bert and G. W. Everett, addition, 4977 Cape May avenue, $200. C. A. Baker, who last week announced the purchase of the James Oliver property at 4763 Coronado avenue, alterations, $200.

WIDELY TRAVELED AUTHOR FAVORS OCEAN BEACH

Miss Evelyn Whitell, well known author and lecturer, arrived last week for another stay in Ocean Beach, coming with her secretary Evangeline Harradine, and they have taken a cottage at 5142 Muir Ave.

Miss Whitell has recently returned from a lecture tour which took her to China, Japan, the Hawaiian Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Africa, Europe and other places. She is the writer of many books, the most popular of which is said to be "Lovingly in the Hands of the Father" with its sequel "The Arms of Love and Wings of Faith."

The visitor says of all parts of the world she likes Southern California best and when coming this way always thinks of Ocean Beach for her stay.

She is speaking at the Unity church of Fellowship, Admiral hotel, 4th and A, San Diego, Sunday at 11 a. m., taking for her subject "The Faith of the Pioneer."

JUMP OFF BAY BRIDGE HALTED; MAN IS NABBED

Archie McPhel, 39, of Ocean Beach arrived at the city jail Sunday in his BVD's after having made a spectacular attempt to leap into the swirling waters passing under Mission Bay bridge.

Persons fishing at the bridge said that McPhel disrobed, except for scanty undergarments, and was poised on the rail for a leap when they seized him, and called police. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly.—Union.

A daughter was born March 2nd to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Games, 4603 Lotus street, at Mercy hospital.

"GRIFF" LLOYD JOINS KIWANIS; BASKETBALL BOYS GUESTS

Joe Restine was chairman of Wednesday's Kiwanis luncheon with Dr. Felt presiding.

Griffith Lloyd of the Strand Radio Company was received into membership by Dr. I. W. Parks.

Fifteen members of the Point Loma's Metropolitan league champion basketball men, together with Coach Beekle and Principal Clarence R. Swenson, were honor guests of the day. As a special feature of entertainment, music supervisor Myron B. Green of Point Loma High, had his Loman quartet on hand with entertaining cowboy songs.

Capt. Kelly and Bill Menhke of the San Diego police department gave short talks on the value of fingerprinting to the nation as well as to the individual and many Kiwanis members had their "prints" taken to be sent to Washington, D. C., there to be kept on hand in the civilian files for use as identification if that is ever found necessary.

Messrs. Cough and Ray McPherson were guests of Allan V. Mutt.

Forty-one were in attendance at the dinner and old members said it looked like the "good old days" when the local club had a membership of forty or more.

CONSOLIDATED EXPANSION PLANS DISCLOSED—A $1K LEASE MORE LAND

A large increase in its imposing plant is under consideration by the Consolidated Aircraft Corp., San Diego's newest big industry.

The plans contemplate a three-story experimental building, 300 by 200 feet, to be built in the space between the Consolidated's present buildings and the Ryan plant at the municipal airport.

Increase in the width of the present plant by 50 feet, and extension to be on the airport side of the building, which will make an addition 50 feet by 900 feet.

Extension of 200 feet on the northern end of the existing plant.

To provide for the new building's the company has asked the harbor commission to prepare papers for almost three more acres of space. Under its lease with the city the aircraft corporation had an option on nine acres additional space but, according to word in city circles, had not expected to start exercising its option so soon.

The three-story structure at the south end of the existing plant is being designed to provide facilities for experimentation with the largest type of ships built for the air, it was said.

Floods Devastate Many Eastern Cities

The Johnstown flood of 1889 brought vividly to mind again this week with the reports from New England states and other sections of the east telling of unestimable damage that is being wrought by floods from melting snows, rains and the breaking of reservoirs.

While the reported loss of life is less than one hundred at present the property damage far exceeds that of any previous similar catastrophe. The Associated Press of yesterday stated there were 34 dead in Pennsylvania, 11 in W. Virginia, 4 in Vermont, 2 in Virginia, 2 in Georgia, Massachusetts, Maine, N. Carolina and Maryland several each.

Radio and telephone communication of the present day, saved the loss of thousands of lives but household goods, homes and personal effects have been destroyed with a loss mounting into the millions.

Waters from five to twenty-five feet deep swept thru some of the cities and the crest of swollen rivers was yet to do their worst according to latest radio reports.

Government aid has been prompt and Red Cross aid has been sent with an appeal to all the nation to help.

300 Property Leases Round Mission Bay

The News is just in receipt of word from Senator Ed Fletcher, saying that revised plans for the improvement of Mission Bay State Park were approved Friday of last week and progress is being made.

A letter to Fletcher from Warner J. Paul, deputy attorney general, referring to settlement of tideland leases says there are in excess of 300 known defendants and that it will be necessary to serve these people, then when they have answered or defaulted, the action will be brought to trial. It is thought a great many defendants will not contest the cases and every effort will be made to keep the actions from getting hung up in the Appellate Courts for any considerable period of time.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS MEET MONDAY

Next Monday evening Ocean Beach's chamber of commerce directors will meet in their semi-monthly session and anyone interested in the welfare of the beach section is invited to attend. Carl Schroder, president, will preside.

The meeting will be at the Woman's club house at 8 p. m. sharp.

New Tax Program Stirs Hot Debate—Black's Seizure of Telegrams—Norris Dam Is Completed—Italo-Ethiopian Peace Draws Nearer.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

CONGRESSMAN SAM B. HILL of Washington and his subcommittee of the house ways and means committee took up the heavy task of determining how the new revenue of $1,137,000,000 called for by President Roosevelt should be raised.

Rep. S. B. Hill

Treasury officials recommended that an average tax of 33 1/2 per cent should be levied on undivided corporation profits and a tax of 90 per cent on all refunded or unpaid AAA processing taxes. In this the fiscal experts followed the suggestions of Mr. Roosevelt. They told the subcommittee that the proposed corporation surplus tax would yield the government $620,000,000 annually. The President has estimated that this amount will be needed to finance the new farm program and the soldier bonus.

The so-called "windfall" tax on processors who successfully challenged the AAA in the courts, it was believed, would yield another $200,000,000. This will be used to reimburse the treasury for losses suffered as a result of the Supreme court's invalidation of AAA. There remains an additional $317,000,000 which it is proposed to raise through excise taxes on a wide range of farm processors.

Chairman Hill said the experts and the members of the subcommittee were agreed that the tax on undivided surplus should not apply to banks and life insurance companies.

There was wide divergence of opinion concerning this tax among leaders in congress. Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Democrat, for instance, declared himself against it as an unnecessary additional burden on business, and indicated he would support, instead, a plan to tax the income from federal securities now exempt. Senator Borah, Republican, said that in principle he endorsed the plan of taxing undistributed earnings, while Senator Hastings of Delaware, also Republican, denounced it as "confiscatory." Senator King of Utah, Democrat, and Representative Knutson of Minnesota, Republican, were moved by the program to demand immediate cutting down of federal expenditures, and in this Mr. Borah concurred. Speaker Joseph W. Byrns and Majority Leader W. B. Bankhead professed to see no difficulties in the way of the proposed measure.

One thing that boosted the chances of the President's tax program was a report from Secretary of Commerce Roper that corporation income in 1935 was 300 per cent higher than in 1932.

IN THE course of his probe into the affairs of enemies of the New Deal, Senator Black of Alabama, chairman of the lobby committee, assumed the right to seize and examine their private telegrams, and thus his investigation was carried into the courts. Silas Strawn, Chicago attorney, learned the committee was about to subpoena his telegrams and he obtained a temporary injunction blocking such action. He has asked the District of Columbia Supreme court to make this injunction permanent.

The wholesale examination of telegrams was attacked by Representative Wadsworth of New York, and defended by Senator Black.

"It strikes me," Wadsworth said, "that we have reached a strange stage in the development of democracy when private correspondence can be seized without court procedure or search warrant."

Black said: "Repeatedly it has been held that the senate can call for what it pleases. There appears to have been a concerted effort by those who seek to influence legislation behind the scenes, through subterranean channels, to prevent us from getting evidence."

GOVERNOR LANDON'S boom for the Republican Presidential nomination is progressing in a way that must be pleasing to his supporters. Kansas Republicans in a state convention pledged him the state's 18 delegates to the Cleveland convention, declaring him to be "the best-fitted candidate." That Kansas should support its governor is natural and expected, but he also is garnering a good many delegates elsewhere, and indorsement in some states where the delegates are uninstructed.

Sentiment favorable to Landon appeared in New Jersey, and Hervey S. Moore of Trenton, a Republican leader, was contemplating starting an active campaign for him in that state.

ON THE third anniversary of his inauguration President Roosevelt pushed an electric key in the White House which set in motion machinery that closed the sluice gates of the Norris dam in the Tennessee Valley project. This signaled the completion of that part of the vast work on the Clinch river.

"I hope as many people as can will go to see the Norris dam in eastern Tennessee," the President said in a formal statement. "It exemplifies great engineering skill, high construction efficiency, and, above all, it is the key to the carefully worked out control of a great river and its water spread over parts of seven states."

"The Norris dam is a practical symbol of better life and greater opportunity for millions of citizens of our country. The nation has come to realize that national resources must not be wasted and the Norris dam is evidence that our program for conservation of these resources is going forward."

SENATOR BORAH and Senator Van Nuys of Indiana, the latter a Democrat, introduced a bill directed against certain practices of the chain stores. The measure would make it unlawful for any person engaged in commerce to grant any discount, rebate, allowance or advertising service charge to a purchaser over that available to the purchasers' competitors. It also would prohibit sales "at prices lower than those exacted by said person elsewhere in the United States for the purpose of destroying competition or eliminating a competitor."

Co-operative associations would be exempted from provisions of the measure. Violators would be subject to a $5,000 fine and a one-year jail sentence.

The so-called Robinson-Patman anti-monopoly bill, also aimed at chain stores, will be passed by the senate before very long, according to a promise made by Senator Robinson to a mass meeting of 1,500 independent merchants who went to Washington to lobby for the measure. This bill legislates against special prices, rebates, advertising allowances and brokerage fees giving sales advantage to chain stores.

THROUGH its committee of thirteen the League of Nations appealed to Benito Mussolini and Emperor Haile Selassie to consent to immediate negotiations for an end to hostilities and a definite re-establishment of Italo-Ethiopian peace. Though consideration of the proposal by his cabinet council was delayed a few days, Mussolini, according to advices from Rome, was disposed to acquiesce provided territory in Ethiopia already occupied by Italy is considered hers and left out of the negotiations.

Haile Selassie accepted the proposal without reservation. In recent days his armies in the northern sector have been routed in big battles and have lost many thousands of men, and the Italians have penetrated far toward the interior of the country; and in the South the invaders were preparing for a rapid advance.

Back of the league's appeal was the standing threat of extension of sanctions to include an embargo on oil. This suddenly brought about a situation rather disconcerting for the league. Dr. Giuseppe Motta, Swiss foreign minister, gave a warning that if the oil embargo was applied his country might feel it necessary to leave the league in order to preserve its neutrality if the consequent threatened war in Europe resulted. Motta pointed out that if Italy quit the league and hostilities ensued, Switzerland, through her membership in the league, would appear in Italian eyes as a party to a hostile coalition, and would be subject to invasion, by Italy on one side and perhaps by Germany on the other.

BRITAIN'S government evidently believes another war is coming, and intends to be well prepared. It made public a gigantic program for increases in the army, navy and air forces and for swift mobilization of man power and industry. No official cost estimate was given out but authorities said the total over a three-year period would be not less than one and a half billion dollars. The program includes these features:

Army—Four new battalions of infantry are planned. All units are to be modernized, mechanized, and re-equipped. Especial attention will be paid coastal and anti-aircraft defenses.

Navy—Two new battleships next year and an increase in cruiser strength from 50 to 70, with five new ones to be laid down this year. Naval personnel also will be increased by 6,000, a new aircraft carrier will be constructed, and the air arm of the navy will be strengthened.

Air Force—About 250 new war planes will be added to the home defense squadrons, bringing the total to 1,750. Twelve new air squadrons for imperial defense—that is, air forces available for transfer to danger areas—will be added, and more pilots will be recruited.

Following this announcement the annual naval estimates were submitted to parliament. They call for $349,650,000, an increase of $49,400,000 over the previous year.

JAPAN was calming down after the amazing revolt and attempted coup d'etat of a thousand soldiers led by a group of young "fascist" officers who thought the Okada government was hampering the military progress of the nation. So far as can be judged at this distance, the net results of the uprising were: Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito, former premier and lord keeper of the privy seal; Korekiyo Takahashi, minister of finance, and Gen. Jotaro Watanabe, chief of military education, were assassinated by the rebels. Premier Okada escaped death, his brother-in-law being mistaken for him and slain. The mutineers, threatened by loyal troops and the fleet, obeyed an edict by Emperor Hirohito and surrendered. Of their 23 leaders, two committed suicide.

The immediate concern of Emperor Hirohito and his advisers was the selection of a man for premier who could form a new government that would satisfy the various parties. First Prince Fumimaro Konoye, young president of the house of peers, was asked to undertake this task, but he declined on the ground of poor health. Then the choice of the emperor fell upon Koki Hirota, a moderate who is well known in both the United States and Russia. Hirota at once began picking out his ministers, saying: "My cabinet will be composed of young, able statesmen."

Hirota's selection was taken to mean that the emperor has determined to proceed with the modernization of the country, and to exercise his power to rule instead of permitting himself to be the exalted agent of military overlords.

MAJ. GEN. WILLIAM WEIGEL, retired, one of the army's most reliable commanders, died in the army hospital on Governors Island at the age of seventy-two. He served 44 years, through Indian campaigns, in the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines, and went to France in the World War as a captain. He was rapidly promoted through grades, to brigadier general on August 15, 1917, and to major general on August 8, 1918, when he was given command of the Eighty-eighth division, a new national army unit which he trained and took overseas. Previously he had commanded the Fifty-sixth brigade, Twenty-eighth division, a Pennsylvania outfit, at Chateau-Thierry.

MORE than 150,000 workers in 11,000 buildings in New York city were called out on strike by James J. Bambrick, president of the Building Service Employees' International union, and the skyscrapers from the Battery to Washington Heights were badly crippled. Elevator men stopped their cars, furnace men banked their fires and scrubwomen threw down their mops, and all marched out of the buildings and formed picket lines. There was some scattered fighting between the pickets and men hastily hired to take their places.

Since the strike affected not only office buildings but innumerable apartment buildings also, the occupants of the latter were deprived of heat and telephone connections, and in many cases sick persons were marooned without food supplies. This led Mayor La Guardia to call the city health officials into conference, and to declare a civic emergency and order Health Commissioner Rice to see that fires were stoked and that trips necessary to health of the tenants and care of the sick were made in all residence buildings of more than six floors.

IMMEDIATELY after President Roosevelt signed the new soil conservation-farm relief act passed to take the place of the invalidated AAA, Administrator Chester C. Davis began planning ways to spend the $500,000,000 authorized. Under his orders more than five thousand employees of the AAA who had been waiting since January 6 for something to do got busy placing the new program into effect.

C. C. Davis

The goal of the new law, Mr. Roosevelt said in announcing his signature, is partly, not of farm prices, but of farm income. He said the New Deal has "not abandoned and will not abandon" the principle of equality for agriculture.

Davis planned, as the first move, a series of four conferences with agricultural leaders in Memphis, Chicago, New York and Salt Lake City to formulate plans to take 30,000,000 acres out of commercial production this year and place them in legumes and other soil conserving crops.

The new law provides benefit payments to farmers who co-operate in federal suggestions for conservation of soil fertility in 1936 and 1937. It provides, also, for federal subsidies to states setting up permanent state programs in 1938 and thereafter.

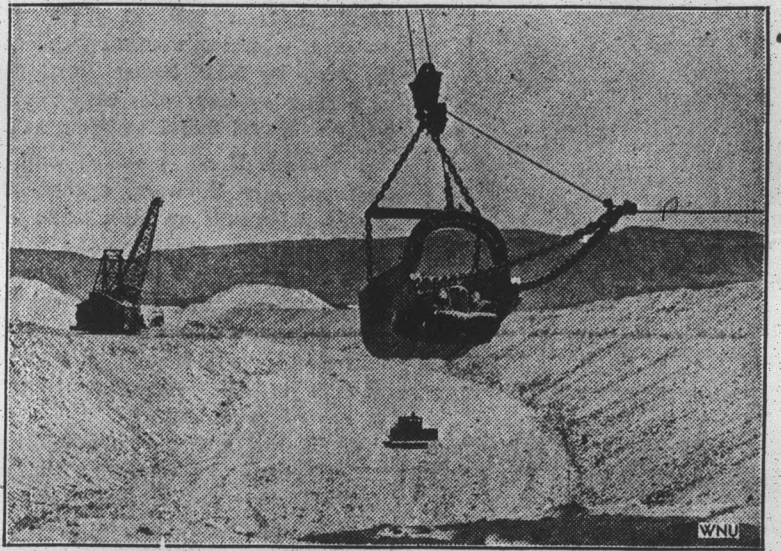

"REMEMBER the Alamo," the battle cry of Texas, was heard all over the state as its centennial celebration opened at the village of Washington-on-the-Brazos, where the declaration of independence from Mexico was signed. The old "charter of empire" was taken there from its place in the state capitol rotunda in Austin, and Gov. James V. Allred of Texas and Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin went along to take part in the ceremonies. The party then went to Huntsville, where Gen. Sam Houston gathered an army of Texans to fight the Mexicans, and there Gov. Hill McAlister of Tennessee made the address. San Antonio and other cities followed on the program, and the celebrations will continue for months, reaching a climax in the opening on June 6 of the centennial exposition at Dallas.

STUDENTS IN SYMPATHY STRIKE

Between 3,000 and 4,000 Alameda, California, high school students walked from class rooms, picketed other schools and held demonstrations protesting the ousting of William G. Paden as Superintendent of Schools. Mr. Paden, meanwhile, refused to relinquish his position to the man named to succeed him.

WORLD'S LARGEST IRRIGATION DITCH

The 12-cubic-yard bucket of an All-American Canal dragline picked up the automobile of the boss. The idea was to demonstrate the size of the equipment being used to dig the world's largest irrigation ditch across the Southern California desert. The All-American Canal will serve the Imperial Valley, replacing the present main canal which loops 40 miles through Mexico. The new canal will have an initial capacity of 15,000 second feet.

Accused

Harry Thompson, indicted on charges of illegal wearing of a uniform of a yeoman of the navy and with impersonation of a federal officer, has been arrested in Los Angeles. An amazing story of international intrigue, bordering on espionage, is being investigated by the federal grand jury. Secrets of the United States navy and other matters highly guarded by naval intelligence are asserted to have been "sold" to a foreign power. Thompson's bond was set at the unusually high figure of $20,000.

State Warrants Sold

Sacramento.—The sale of $1,429,968 of general fund warrants to meet immediate relief requirements has been announced by State Controller Riley. The warrants bear 4 per cent interest and were purchased by four San Francisco and three Los Angeles banks.

Baby Jean was placed in the care of steamship officials and made the long voyage alone. It is needless to say that she won the hearts of everyone on board.

CALIFORNIA News of the Week

Liquor Permits Denied

Death Valley.—Seventy-two applications for liquor licenses, 50 of them from the Los Angeles district, were denied by the State Board of Equalization in session here. The denials were recommended by the chief liquor control officers and local authorities.

Love Is Classroom Subject

Fresno.—"How to Fall in Love and Stay Put" is the theme of a course being conducted at Fresno Evening High School by Charles Woessner, "instructor in personality development and practical psychology." The school reported a sell-out for all classes.

Friant Dam Head Named

Washington.—Secretary of the Interior Ickes appointed A. M. Torpen, formerly with the Tennessee Valley Authority, as division engineer in charge of the Central Valley reclamation project. Torpen will have charge of the construction of Friant dam and of the Friant, Kern and Madera canals.

Sun's Rays Break Windows

Porterville.—Rushing the season, "Old Sol" was blamed by insurance companies for damage to plate glass windows in the business district here. The unseasonal heat of the sun, beating on plate glass windows still cool from a chilly night, caused several to crack beyond repair.

Carpenters For Townsend Plan

Fresno.—The 125 delegates to the California State Council of Carpenters endorsed the Townsend old age pension plan at the annual convention here, rejecting a recommendation of the resolutions committee for non-concurrence. Joseph P. Cambiano of San Mateo was reelected president and Stockton was chosen as the 1937 convention city.

Mussolini Thanks Poet

Visalia.—Domenico LaFreza, local Italian poet, has received a letter from the Italian Consul at San Francisco expressing thanks of Premier Mussolini and the Italian government for a poem written by him and sent to Il Duce some time ago.

Cattle Die In Plumas Wreck

Quincy.—Four cars of beef cattle and one of sheep were wrecked on the Western Pacific line near here, two of the cars plunging into the Feather River and their cargo of cattle drowning. Many others in the remaining cars were so badly injured that it was necessary to shoot them.

Clothes Wringer Kills Mother of 5

Napa.—Mrs. Mary Patterson, 37, was washing clothes for her husband and five children when her hair became entangled in the wringer of her washing machine. In the struggle to extricate herself, she pulled the machine over on top of her and was killed. Her husband was a Mare Island Navy Yard worker.

Washington Approves Pension Set-up

Sacramento.—Federal approval of California's set-up for administration of the old-age pension program has been announced by Governor Merriam. Counties will continue to administer the pension system, with the Federal and State governments exercising supervisory control. One-half of the pension cost will be assumed by the Federal government, with the State and Counties each paying one-quarter instead of one-half.

Sardine Conservation Sought

Washington.—Herbert Davis, executive officer of the California Fish and Game Commission, told members of the House and Senate merchant marine committees here that offshore sardine reduction plants were "making a farce" of California's sardine conservation program. He advocated legislation to bring offshore plants under the same restrictions as the shore establishments.

Predict Wild Flower Extinction

Mountain View.—"Because the public disregards the law against picking wild-flowers scores of varieties of flowers will shortly become extinct," said Bertha Rice, author and one of the West's leading authorities on wild flowers, in a lecture here. At present there are 3000 varieties of wild flowers growing in the State, she declared, but many of them are in danger.

Crime Program Drafted

San Quentin.—Developed through the cooperation of more than 3000 of the so-called better-type convicts of San Quentin, a 14-point program to smash crime in America has been submitted to U. S. Attorney General Cummings and the California State Board of Prison Directors. The proposal includes universal finger-printing, abolition of the jury system and control of all law-enforcement machinery by the Federal government.

New Race Courses Planned

Los Angeles.—The State Racing Board has indicated it will grant a permit for summer racing to the Golden State Jockey Club which proposes to construct a new track six miles west of Hollywood. A group of sportsmen has leased the old Riverside County fairgrounds at Riverside and plans a ten-day meet to begin May 30. At Sacramento the Southern California Anti-Racing League, Inc., filed articles of incorporation with the avowed purpose of sponsoring a movement to prohibit horse and dog racing in California.

Their Activities Resented by Moscow

THESE are some of the Japanese-Manchukuo troops that are getting so busy along the Outer Mongolian border that Soviet Russia has angrily protested. Moscow accuses Japan of plotting to get control of Mongolia, which is one of the Soviet states. For a time it was believed the long expected Russo-Japanese war would be started by this frontier quarrel, but Moscow and Tokyo finally agreed upon an investigation by a mixed commission.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A DIFFERENT GAME OF HIDE AND SEEK

ONCE more Lightfoot the Deer was playing hide and seek in the Green Forest. But it was a different game than the one he had played just a short time before. You remember that then it had been for his life that he had played—he was the one who had done all the hiding. Now, he was "it" and some one else was doing the hiding. Instead of the dreadful fear which had filled him in that other game, he was now filled with longing, longing to make friends with the beautiful stranger of whom he had caught just a glimpse, but of whom every day he found tracks.

Once Lightfoot Ran Smack Into Buster Bear.

At times Lightfoot would lose his temper. Yes, sir, Lightfoot would lose his temper. That was a foolish thing to do, but it seemed to him that he just couldn't help it. He would stamp his feet angrily and thrash the bushes with his great spreading antlers as if they were an enemy with whom he was fighting. More than once when he did this a great pair of great, soft, gentle eyes were watching him, though he didn't know it. If he could have seen them and the look of admiration in them he would have been more eager than ever to find that beautiful stranger.

At other times Lightfoot would steal about through the Green Forest as noiselessly as a shadow. He would peer into thickets and behind tangles of fallen trees and brush piles, hoping to surprise the one he sought. He would be very, very patient. Perhaps he would come to a thicket which he knew from the signs the stranger had left only a few moments before. Then his patience would vanish in impatience and he would dash ahead eager to catch up with the shy stranger. But always it was in vain. He had thought himself very clever, but this stranger was proving herself more clever.

Of course it wasn't long before all the little people in the Green Forest knew what was going on. They knew all about that game of hide and seek just as they had known all about that other game of hide and seek with the hunters. But now, instead of trying to help Lightfoot as they did then, they gave him no help at all. The fact is they were enjoying that game. Mischievous Sammy Jay even went so far as to warn the stranger several times when Lightfoot was approaching. Of course Lightfoot knew when Sammy did this, and each time he lost his temper. For the time being he quite forgot all that Sammy had done for him when he was the one being hunted. Once Lightfoot almost ran smack into Buster Bear, and was so provoked by his own carelessness that instead of bounding away he actually threatened to fight Buster. But when Buster grinned good-naturedly at him Lightfoot thought better of it and bounded away to continue his search.

Then there were times when Lightfoot would sulk and would declare over and over to himself: "I don't care anything about that stranger. I won't spend another minute looking for her." And then within five minutes he would be watching, listening, and seeking some sign that she was still in the Green Forest.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

GIVE the children a treat in their lunch box by adding a few:

Honey Date Bars.

Take two cups of chopped dates and one-half cup of chopped nuts. Beat two eggs and add three-fourths of a cup of honey, one-half cup of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half cup of bran. Mix well and bake in shallow pans in a moderate oven. Serve for dessert with whipped cream, or they may be rolled in powdered sugar.

Coconut Devil's Food.

Cream one cup of sugar with one-third of a cup of butter. Add two well-beaten egg yolks, one cup of fresh grated coconut, and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Add one and one-half cups of sifted flour, two and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three teaspoonfuls of cocoa and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add the dry ingredients alternately to the first mixture with three-fourths of a cup of coconut milk. Fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites and turn into floured layer tins that have been well greased. Bake in moderate oven and ice with:

Coconut Marshmallow Icing.

Take one cupful of sugar, one unbeaten egg white, three tablespoonfuls of coconut milk; place over boiling water and beat with a Dover egg beater for seven minutes. Have twelve marshmallows finely cut in a hot bowl and pour the icing over them, beat until thick. Stir in one-half cupful of coconut and spread over the cake; sprinkle with another half-cupful of coconut on top.

Coconut Butterscotch Pie.

Scald two cupfuls of coconut milk, add a tablespoonful of flour to one-half cupful of brown sugar and cook in the hot milk until smooth. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half cupful of coconut and two beaten egg yolks, cook one minute, then remove, add vanilla to taste and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a pastry shell and bake until brown.

MULTIPLYING SPONGE

THE magician shows a cube of rubber cut from a rubber sponge. He passes it for brief examination, shows his hands empty and rubs the rubber cube between them.

When he has ceased this operation, the wizard draws his hands apart. In place of a single cube he has two—one in each hand!

You must prepare for this stunt. Cut out two cubes of rubber, each about two inches square. Make a slit in one and use a pair of scissors to hollow out the interior. Press the solid cube into that hollow space.

The two pass as one cube at the start. Rubbing brings out the inner cube and you have two at the finish.

WE CHOOSE THE SHADE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE CHOOSE the brighter colors when

We take our needles up again, The vivid yellows, cheerful blues, The brighter colors like to use. The room has quite enough of gray; We'll make the place a little gay With brighter colors, so we say.

Yes, so we sit us down to do The afghan, or a row or two, And think a little—but of what? Of things that should have been forgot Long, long ago—for now we seize Upon unhappy memories, Life's darker colors such as these.

For thoughts are things we sit and weave, And we may sing or we may grieve, But this I know: that thoughts are made

As stitches are—we choose the shade. I wish we chose our thoughts the way We choose our colors day by day. For life has quite enough of gray.

Cuyahoga River Was on Fire

ALL available Cleveland fire apparatus was called out to fight a raging fire that broke out on the oil covered surface of the Cuyahoga river and threatened to destroy the industrial flats of the city. More than a ton and a half of special chemicals were used to prevent the flames from reaching 5,000,000 gallons of highly volatile gasoline stored near the river. The flames caused $20,000 damage to a railroad bridge.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this:

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

What Counts

Talking gets a job but working holds it.

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adierka. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

Rash Broke Out But Cuticura Soothed

Read this letter—how smarting rash and blisters due to external causes were relieved in almost no time by Cuticura.

"I noticed an itching sensation on my face and arms. It afterwards formed blisters that left the skin very tender and sensitive. Finally a rash broke out which, when rubbed, caused a smarting and intense itching. It was agony.

"A sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment relieved me so much that I bought some. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one-half tin of Cuticura Ointment, the rash disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. Grace Bailey, 390 East 201st St., Bronx, New York City.

AS SPRING DAWNS

As the rains abate and the bright freshness of Spring dawns, as bird songs saturate the air with melody and sunlight floods thru trees hung with newly budded leaves—as these happy signs appear, California prepares to harvest one of her greatest crops, a crop that has nothing to do with the soil.

Tourists spent some $235,000,000 last year in the Golden State with the golden climate, and it is estimated they will spend even more during 1936. This is more than the value of all the fruit we grow in an average season, more than the value of all livestock and more than the value of all the gold, lumber, fish, vegetables, wheat and barley combined.

Obviously, it would be unwise of us to risk losing this tourist crop, or even half of it.

Now probably our biggest investment in the way of accommodating the influx of those who come to view this wonderland, is our magnificent network of highways. It is on these that the tourists get from place to place, and much of their pleasure they find while driving on them.

It might be a good idea, therefore, for the State to look seriously into this complaint of motorists that commercial vehicles are flooding the highways in such numbers that the pleasure is gradually fading out of pleasure driving. As to the necessary number of busses and trucks which we must have to move passengers and freight, which the farmer must have to market our abundant crops of the soil—all well and good.

But if the present rapid rise to excess does begin to sandwich our tourists as well as ourselves between wide, heavy, slow moving vehicles that make driving a strain and a worry, tourists might decide California is a good place not to come back to. Then what of our yearly $235,000,000?

As a suggestion this seems pertinent and timely, what with Spring coming on—what with the rains abating and the birds bursting into song, and the sunlight flooding through trees hung with newly budded leaves.

Next Saturday is the first day of Spring, a real seasonable event to most of the world, even to California, although we get many "spring days" in the winter. A California spring time is both a picture and an experience, all the year. Nature in all the brightness and exuberance of color effect and fascinating environment, is continually drawing the mind away from the complex life into a calmness of spirit and enlivened joy. The abundance of California flowers, natures' fragrant garlands in a riot of tints and colors, fill the air with perfume, found only the equal in this magic Southland. How many really enjoy and appreciate the California privilege which kind Mother Nature has given us? Count your blessings of life in the Golden State, and see what wealth you have!

The Hall of Fame in New York City is honored this week with a tablet and bust of former President Grover Cleveland, honoring his birth, March 18, 1837. Cleveland was the only president to serve two terms that were not consecutively, first election in 1884; and while his first term was uneventful, his second term beginning in 1892, embraced many notable events, including the repeal of silver legislation, the panic of 1893, out of which came the celebrated Pullman strike. Half of the 32 presidents were soldiers during their careers; Washington, Monroe, Jackson, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Buchanan, Lincoln, Pierce, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, B. Harrison, McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt.

St. Patrick's day is again celebrated with the usual patriotic devotion and loyalty to the great and wonderful man, that patron saint of Ireland. What a beautiful history of a man's life! It is said that he was born an Englishman, or was a Welshman, though not by blood; at any rate his noble parents gave him those most lovable qualities he possessed. His father a Roman and his mother a Frenchwoman. March 17 is not St. Patrick's birthday anniversary, however, as thousands think, but the anniversary of his death. Nevertheless, his great fame came from what he did for Ireland, not only by pontifical action, but also in the heart of the people of the "auld sod." For over 1500 years Ireland has been blessed by this man. Many are born and have died and been forgotten, but the memory of St. Patrick will live on through the ages.

Canada with all its fruit consumption is turning to California and will double its business with the state since California fruits have been placed on the free list. Oranges, for example, will enter entirely free of duty during the months of January to April, inclusive. This removal of the existing duty of 35 cents per cubic foot will be a particular boon to Canadian consumers, who during the last fiscal year imported $5,000,000 worth of the fruit. This with other articles of trade business. President Roosevelt expects the treaty will double United States-Canadian trade within two years, making the countries each the other's best customer instead of "second best" as at present. Regaining the $1,400,000,000 volume of mutual trade, recorded in 1929, it is hoped for. The treaty became effective last January and runs for three years.

It is not always pleasant to see ourselves as others see us. But it's usually healthful for our perspective, even if others are seeing us wrongly. Thomas L. St. John, the Scripps-Howard man from Washington, came out to give California the once-over not long ago. This is what he saw... a heterogeneous conglomeration of "sunshine and some of what they call 'mist' out here, of Herbert Hoover and Hiram Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo, of Upton Sinclair and his EPICS and Doc Townsend and his old folks, of satisfied farmers and disgruntled business men, of Hollywood beauties. Everything runs to extremes except the weather." Well, perhaps California is a little the "extremist" in various things. But is that so unhealthy for a comparatively young land full of energy and new ideas, and anxious to find ways and means for setting itself and the Nation on the path toward better things?

SAFETY IN USE OF PUBLIC BEACHES

Recent beach emergencies which have caused loss of life and endangered San Diego citizens indicate the need for frequent safety reminders and use of good sense on the part of those who use such places for recreation.

The recreation commission recommended and received a 50% increase for last summer life guard service and improved equipment. The winter schedule for life guards for a number of years provided 3 life guards to be assigned to radio equip prowlers operating in beach areas. The plan has proven adequate until the present year when inexperienced swimmers and river channel boating has caused great concern.

The department of recreation has been asked to compile safety first procedure:

- For surf bathers:
It is dangerous—
1. To swim alone at anytime.
2. To swim in cold water especially if you are not an expert swimmer. (The surf in the winter season is too cold for swimming).
3. To enter water in less than 1 hour after eating. (1 hr. 30 min. is safer length of time).
4. To swim out beyond breakers alone at anytime. (Use a boat convey for long swims).
5. To swim where and when life guard service is not available. (Swim in front of established life guard centers).
6. To dive, run, or plunge into water before knowing depth and presence or absence of rocks or other obstructions.

The use of beaches by inexperienced especially inexperienced with surf bathing, constitutes one of the greatest hazards. A number of fatalities have occurred in the last year because of a combination of inexperienced plus excessive intoxication and lack of ordinary judgement.

One fatality at Mission Beach occurred at 3:00 a. m. when a drinking group of young people were supposedly returning from an all night party. Visitors who are naturally without even remote knowledge of surf bathing should be warned by their hosts to proceed with care, swimming only in front of life guard stations.

Beginning in May there will be guards at La Jolla cove, New Mis-

OCEAN BEACH CHILDREN TO DANCE AT EXPO

A group of pupils from Miss Ter-Heggen's dancing class in Ocean Beach will present a program of variety dances, at the House of Hospitality in the Exposition grounds, Saturday, March 28, at 8 p. m.

Owing to the California child labor law no children under the age of 12 years are allowed to entertain at the Exposition until school vacation. Pupils who will appear on the program are: Eileen Finley, Norma Stevens, Laura Lee Curry, Zaza Daun, Elinore Fredericks, Mildred Brabban, Madeline Burdette, Betty Gerrish, Helen Rogers, Ethel Milton, Ruth Culnan, Mercedes Forsberg, Dolores Sheppard, Betty Lou Connors, Katherine Madigan and John McCullough.

sion Beach, Old Mission Beach, and Ocean Beach. Two new stations at Mission Beach will also be maintained for the summer. The river bay channel should not be used for water sports under any consideration; it is dangerous both inside and outside of the Mission Bay bridge.

Parents should not permit small children to go to beaches alone unless adequate information for supervision is arranged with life guards. It is a misdemeanor to leave glass or rubbish of any kind on the beach. Civic pride is the answer to prevent such nuisance.

During an Exposition year when many visitors use our beaches, every citizen should be careful to make proper suggestion to them for safety.

WANCA HUTA NO 1

At the regular meeting held by the Wanca Huta Group No. 1, Friday March 13, songs were practiced by the group, in preparation for the rally to be held at the Elks hall, in San Diego, March 17th.

At the rally a representation of Major Bowes program was given by members of the various groups.

A very interesting talk was given, on first aid, by Mr. McCausland.

Members of Hages Creamery, gave a short illustration of first aid on the care of wounds, on the arm and forehead. At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served.

Our group entertained with a gypsy program.

The next meeting of Wanca Huta Group No. 1 will be held on Friday, March 20th, at 3:30 p. m.

POULTRY HELPS.

By E. E. Steele.

The parasites found in poultry in the United States, which may seriously affect the health of the birds may be divided into three general groups.

One group, known as protozoa, can only be seen with the aid of a microscope. Second, the group of worm parasites, of several kinds, only a few of which when full grown are not large enough to be seen with the naked eye.

The third group is made up of insects, lice, fleas, mites and ticks.

Protozoa may be found in the blood, kidneys and other internal organs of the birds; worms in the eye, wind pipe, digestive tract, reproductive organs, and in and under the skin; the insect group are found chiefly on the outside of the bird except in the case of certain mites which are found in the air passages, lungs and liver.

To locate protozoa, smears or sections from infected parts of the bird must be examined with a microscope.

To locate worms or the internal mites the various parts of the body must be examined. (Continued).

Interesting History Of California Counties

Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, at the request of Governor Frank F. Merriam, has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California including a few salient facts about each county.

—Editor.

Sutter County—Created February 18, 1850. One of the original twenty-seven counties. Sutter county was named after General John A. Sutter, a native of Switzerland and soldier of fortune. He first arrived in San Francisco July 2, 1839, obtained a large grant from the Mexican government, and called his first settlement New Helvetia, which now is the city of Sacramento and location of Sutter's Fort.

Sutter is one of the richest agricultural counties in the entire west. Rightfully boastful of its peach crops, the county in addition is a land of diversified products. It is the greatest cling peach producing section in the nation. Practically all other varieties of fruits are grown and the production of wheat, oats, barley, grain hay, alfalfa, Indian corn, beets, rice and a long list of vegetables makes it rank high in farm and orchard wealth.

The county is of historic importance. Sutter Buttes, a curious formation of rocks and earth rising to about 2480 feet and covering 14,000 acres, are linked with the romance of the State's secession from Mexican rule. General Fremont and Kit Carson, with their band of explorers, sought the protection of the buttes on a march from the Modoc region southward in the early forties. It was here they planned armed resistance against Mexico. White secret council was being held here, the Bear Flag was raised in Sonoma and thence Fremont and his band hurried to participate in the independence of California. Four miles south of Yuba City at "Hock Farm" is located General Sutter's old granary.

Yuba City, the county seat, was laid out as a townsite after General Sutter on July 27, 1849 deeded a tract of land to Samuel Brannan, Pierson B. Redding and Henry Cheever. For years there was intense rivalry between Yuba City and Marysville, just across the Feather river in what now is Yuba County. In 1856, after being almost deserted, Yuba City won an election for the county seat after having lost in previous years to Oro, Nicolaus and Auburn, the latter now county seat of Placer. From then on the city progressed.

The county is famed for its Bartlett pears and to one of its citizens, William Thompson, goes the credit for giving the Thompson seedless grape to the world and millions of dollars to the growers of that grape in California. Population: 14,618. Area: 608 sq. miles.

Tehama County—Created April 9, 1856. "Tehama" is the name of a tribe of Indians which originally inhabited that part of the State which now bears its name. The meaning of the word never has been definitely determined. Some authorities claim it means "high water".

Tehama in the northern section of the great Sacramento Valley is a prosperous land of cattle and sheep, hay and grain and fruit. Of the County's total of 1,872,000 acres, farm lands cover approximately 1,200,000 acres.

While Spain was pioneering coastal California, hardy trappers, hunters and traders explored the Sacramento Valley and many of them settled in what now is Tehama. With forests and mountains on both the east and west and numerous streams, the soil of Tehama is exceptionally fertile and productive. The county, ranging in elevation from 200 to 8,000 feet, produces a wide variety of deciduous fruits, oranges and olives and a high quality mountain apple. About 2000 acres surrounding Corning are noted the world over for their production of the big black Sevillano olive.

Tehama is one of the foremost sheep and wool counties in the State. It boasts more than 150,000 head of sheep. Cattle, including about 5,500 milk cows, total 38,000. Grain and forage crops spread over 50,000 acres.

Hunting and fishing attract many sportsmen from all parts of the State. When mining was flourishing on all sides of Tehama in the early fifties, the town of Red Bluff was a community of 100 inhabitants surrounded by extensive stock ranges and farms. It was head of navigation up the Sacramento river and thrived on trade with the mines. Today it is Tehama's county seat, prosperous and progressive and one of the best known cities in California. The town of Gerber, eight miles from Red Bluff is a thriving railroad center and also has the largest alfalfa meal mill west of the Rockies. Los Molinos, Mantion, Paskenta, Tehama and Vina all add to the general prosperity of the county. Population: 13,866. Area: 2925 square miles.

Trinity County—Created February 18, 1850. This is one of the original twenty-seven counties. This county derived its name from Trinidad Bay, which was discovered and named by Captain Bruno Ezeta on June 11, 1775, a date that happened to be Trinity Sunday. The Spanish charts of the bay were mis-leading and Maj. Reading and others thought that the river he named Trinity entered into this bay.

High mountains, virgin forests, glacial canyons, emerald lakes, swift streams and incomparable scenery make up Trinity county, of which it has been said: "It is a moot point among those who have viewed the Swiss Alps, or the rugged splendor of the Fiords of Norway, whether any more superb landscapes or glorious sunsets reflected from the snow-clad mountains can be depicted than those in the Trinity Alps."

The land is so little touched by industrial development that it is almost a virgin country. Of the total of 1,981,440 acres, about 75 percent is covered by the Trinity National Forest, while the Shasta National Forest takes in the extreme north-eastern tip. Trinity once embraced Del Norte and Humboldt counties. While trappers and hunters had penetrated section of the county, it was gold that brought in settlers. They encountered many Indians, most of whom were friendly, but later clashes occurred which led up to the Bridge Gulch massacre on Hayfork Creek in 1852. Trinity now is the greatest paradise for hunters and fishermen in the west.

Trinity has yielded millions in gold and today, because none of its streams empty into tributaries of navigable waters, hydraulic mining is permitted. Since 1849 farming and stock raising have been successful in favored districts, particularly in Hayfork Valley.

Tucked away in the Trinity Alps is Weaverville, county seat, 50 miles from a railroad. Befitting its eighty years, the town of 500 inhabitants leads a peaceful existence. In 1850 the population numbered 3,000, half of which were Chinese. Here is an ancient Chinese Joss House now maintained by seventeen surviving Chinamen. Its draperies and altar decorations were imported from China 75 years ago. Here, too, is the Trinity county courthouse, built in 1858. Population: 2809. Area: 3096 square miles.

Next Week: Tulare county.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Paul's words to the Corinthians, "The fashion of this world passeth away," constitute the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Mark: "And a certain woman, which had an issue of blood twelve years, and had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse, when she had heard of Jesus, came in the press behind, and touched his garment. For she said, If I may touch but his clothes, I shall be whole. And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of that plague."

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew."

WOMEN'S CLUB MEMBERS HEAR OF CHILD WORK

Ocean Beach Women's club at its meeting Thursday last week heard a talk by John Lyons on work of the coordinating council to prevent juvenile delinquency. A potluck luncheon preceded the talk, and the business meeting followed.

Lyons compared the old times when a family was an asset in the cultivation of a farm, with the present day when "a wife is a luxury, children prodigality" and "chores" almost extinct. It is difficult to find enough to keep young persons busy Saturday mornings, he said.

Leisure time activities must be provided, he urged. Community boosting should feature children's playgrounds and sports like tennis for everyone, he said, instead of merely golf and yacht clubs for the wealthy.

The coordinating council is attempting, he explained, to provide each community with the opportunity to talk over the children who are "out of step with the rules of the game" before they go far enough wrong to have to be sent to White. Character-building groups, improving of local environment, and a representative council acting as a secret jury on cases referred to it make up the program. The speaker urged "cooperation" with this movement for the sake of future citizenship and for civic economy, as penal institutions are expensive.

STUDYING ABOUT CHILDREN OF OTHER LANDS

Children in Miss Neal's H-4 grade have been studying about children of other lands, their homes and school life in their native countries, and of the new homes these people have made in California.

During the past two weeks the following students have reported on countries; Ralph Chadwick reported on Alaska; Patricia Lange reported on Russia; Neta Mae Malcolm talked on Arabia; Alicia Harris told about Canada; and Douglas McCullough on China. Each child chose a country on which he was interested to report. Some children are still working on their reports to be given at a future date.

ATHLETIC BANNERS

Presentation of athletic banners was held on Wednesday morning during opening exercises. Captains who were awarded banners were: Jack De Renne, Bobby Peck, Bonnie Collier and Buddy Peterson. Girls' banners went to Marion Boyd, Myrtle Hess, Lois Stizrud and Harriet Littelfield. Sportsman's banners were presented to Bobby Peck of the boys and to Joan Page's team.

BANKING

If banking is to develop habits of saving a child must give up something for a purpose he has in mind. Perhaps he is saving for a wagon, a sweater, skates, doll, fire engine, bicycle tire, etc. He learns the habit of thrift by saving out of his own spending money enough to bank. This is so much more valuable than asking parents the last minute Tuesday morning for money to bank. This latter is saving by the parents not the child.

School banking competition has been keen. In response to the question how many save out money from their allowance to bank, many hands were raised. Many more earn their money to bank.

The L-3 graders in Miss Lipp's room have won the bank banner two consecutive weeks. They had 25 bankers on Tuesday, which gave them 80 per cent. Miss Figgins' H-6 and L-6 room was second with 74 per cent; Miss Barnes' 3rd graders came in third place with 62 per cent.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

This week marks the 25th anniversary of Camp Fire in the United States. Tuesday, Camp Fire girls of the city held a large rally at the Elks club to celebrate "Camp Fire Birthday." Sunday evening the annual vesper service will be held for all Camp Fire Girls of San Diego at the First Presbyterian church.

SIXTH GRADE NEWSPAPER

Boys and girls of the L-6, H-6 grade are very busy this week getting their newspaper under way. Reporters are gathering the news, editors are planning the "dummy" and printers are busy setting the news in type. They are learning the process of making up a newspaper by steps.

ASSEMBLY

A free school assembly at which a moving picture on the Red Wood Empire of the state, California will be shown next Tuesday at 10:30 in the school auditorium. Both native Californians and visitors will be interested in seeing the beautiful red wood trees native to the state. Parents and friends wishing to attend the assembly will be welcome.

NEW ADDITION

A fine boys' basement has been built at Ocean Beach school and will be opened for the lower grade boys of the school immediately following the visit by inspectors.

HEALTH NOTES

At the present time our school is free of communicable diseases with the exception of a few cases of chicken pox. Attendance has been very good.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

Rev. Walter E. Woodbury, Missionary secretary of the Southern California Baptist convention will be the speaker in the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock.

The Junior and Senior young peoples' societies will meet in the schoolroom at 6:30 p. m. Interesting programs have been arranged and the young people of the community are urged to attend.

A service of song will be held at 7:30 p. m. The pastor will speak on "The Scandal of the Cross."

You are cordially invited to the services of the church.

His Apology

At an agriculture dinner a son of the plow sat beside a woman of title, a friend of the squire, and while discussing turnips and potatoes, he upset a plate of tomato soup on his neighbor's dress. She kept down an impatient exclamation and merely remarked: "What a pity!"

The farm worker looked at the stains and said with a resigned sigh: "Ah, it doesn't matter. I don't like that stuff, anyway."—Birmingham Post.

Otherwise Nothing

Four-year-old Maurice was so quiet his mother became suspicious of his whereabouts. Finally she found him sitting on the floor, perfectly still, doing nothing.

"Maurice, what are you doing?" she asked.

Maurice flung her an impatient glance, and exclaimed: "Can't you see? I'm only living!"

No Need to Hurry

A mother and her little daughter hurried into church, thinking they were late. The organist, however, was still playing the voluntary.

"It's all right, mummy," said the child, "it's only the signature tune."—Calendar.

That Was Different

The dear old lady smiled at the little girl who had been left in sole charge of the confectioner's shop.

"And don't you feel tempted to eat one of the cream buns, my dear?" she asked.

The little girl was quite shocked.

"Oh, dear, no!" she replied. "That would be stealing. I only lick them."

The Elevating Touch

"Don't you think music has a refining influence?"

"It must have," replied Miss Cayenne. "Some of the popular songs contain language that it would be impossible to employ in any other way."

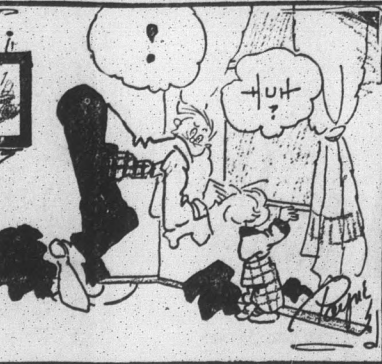

Energetic Appeal

"The violent language you use is no argument," said young Mr. Noah Deep.

"No," replied Uncle Raspberry. "Hit-tin' a mule wif a fence rail ain't no argument, nuther, but it gits action."

There Is No Appeal From

Decisions of Moral Law

A man may have a legal right to take advantage of another. But he can never have a moral right to do it, and the moral law will decide against him every time with no appeal.

Human law has a limited range. Moral law conditions the universe, and no one, in the end, can escape from its decisions.

"Do you think we could get that man, sir? We could have had the others time and again. Bugle, and Rush, I mean—though we could have had Dewdrop, too. But Mr. Bohun says, 'No, Bugle and Rush,' he says, 'is our information bureau. So we won't do them in,' he says; 'if there's any news going in, they'll have it.' But you wouldn't believe how we've laid an' laid for Pharaoh—and missed him every time. Look at tonight, sir. I'd been lyin' there where I met you since half-past six. Keepin' observation, I was, for Mr. Bohun's at Salzburg—I've told you that. To beat up his quarters, he said, in case you'd called. Well, I thought I had got him tonight, when the Rolls slowed down. I was ready to blow his head off—an' then it turns out that it's you. I don't believe in charmed lives, but if ever a blackguard had one, Pharaoh's him."

"You wait, Barley," said I, and got into the car. "When d'you expect Mr. Bohun?"

"Tomorrow morning, sir. About seven o'clock."

"What could be better?" said I. "Tell him to expect me for breakfast at about a quarter to nine. And that after that, if he likes, we'll run along to Plumage and close the information bureau."

As I let in the clutch—

"Good-by, Barley," cried Helena. "Do what you can for his lordship and ask Mr. Bohun to forgive me for making free with his room."

But Barley made no answer. I think he was incapable of speech.

We were back at the castle within a quarter of an hour.

As the warden stepped out of the wicket, Helena spoke.

"Has anyone entered the castle since I've been gone?"

The porter replied:

"No one at all, my lady."

I had known that would be his answer, but the words were comfortable.

The race had been ours all the way, but now we knew it was over and the numbers were up.

Helena was addressing the warden.

"He's not been to the station, Florin. Unless he's here, he must have gone somewhere by car."

"His lordship's not here, my lady. And the Adelaide postern was open which shows that he went that way."

I drove the Rolls under the archway and into the small courtyard.

As the leaves were closed behind us "Out of sight of the wicket," said Helena.

There was just enough room to berth the car out of view.

Helena turned to the warden, who had opened the door by her side.

"The porter is to put out his lights, but stay in his lodge. He is to open to no one, until you return. Mark that. To no one at all. And in five minutes' time you and all the night-watchmen will come to the library."

"If your ladyship pleases," said Florin.

Helena left the car, and I followed her up the stairs.

As I closed the library door, my lady took off her hat, pitched it on to a sofa and moved to the hearth.

"What are you going to tell them?"

For a moment she did not answer, but stood with her eyes on the flames.

Then—

"That the man that murdered young Florin is coming to the castle tonight; that three hours ago he did his best to kill you, because he knows you can prove that he took young Florin's life; that they know him as 'Captain Fanning,' but that I know him as 'Pharaoh'—a very dangerous felon, who is wanted for at least four murders in England alone." She turned to set her hands on my shoulders. "You must forgive me, darling, for playing this hand alone. But now you must stay in the background until we're through. They must not begin to believe that I'm acting on your advice. Now that Valentine's out of the way, my authority here is supreme, but I'm putting a strain upon it when I use my brother's absence to order the death of his guest. Tomorrow—this afternoon you'll stand on another footing, for everyone in the castle will know I'm to be your wife."

I could not answer her, but I put my arms around her and kissed her lips.

And then the light in her face went out.

The lips I had kissed were moving, but no words came . . . and her little hands were trembling . . . and the blood was out of her face.

She was looking over my shoulder—not so much with horror as dully, as though the battle were hopeless and she was tired.

As I let her go and swung round—

"Don't move, Mr. Spencer," said Pharaoh. "The trigger they give these things are absurdly light."

"This thing" was an automatic pistol, pointing in my direction, about six paces away.

CHAPTER VIII

I Bear a Message.

I confess that I was dumbfounded, and several seconds went by before I could find my tongue.

"That's so much bluff," said I. "This isn't the forester's cottage. If you fire on me here—"

"I most frankly admit," said Pharaoh, "that the feelings with which I should kill you would be extremely mixed. To be still more frank, I don't want you to force my hand. Not that I value your life. In fact, you're rather a nuisance. But if I were to—gr—abate you, I should probably have to withdraw—and that wouldn't suit my book. But for you to take any action would suit my book even less. And so, if you move, I shall fire. . . . I'm sure Lady Helena favors my point of view."

"Yes," said Helena, quietly. "I see your point. Don't move, John, I beg you. He means what he says."

"He does indeed," said Pharaoh.

With his words a knock fell upon the door. . . .

"Ah," said Pharaoh. "The trusty warden, no doubt. With his white hair unbonneted, the stout old sheriff comes; behind him march the halberdiers. . . . I think you were going to tell him something, Lady Helen. Well, do have him in. But perhaps I ought to remind you that Mr. Spencer's life will depend upon what you say."

The pistol slid into his pocket; but though he withdrew his left hand, his right hand stayed where it was.

Again the warden knocked, and Helena raised her voice and cried to him to come in.

The warden entered the room.

As his eyes lit upon Pharaoh, he started, as though in surprise; then he closed the door behind him and turned to where Helena stood.

My lady moistened her lips.

"I'm not at all satisfied, Florin, with the watch that is being kept. Here's Captain Fanning returned, but he was never challenged or—"

"I found a postern open," said Pharaoh. "To save the porter trouble, I entered by that."

"He should have been seen," said Helena, "crossing the bridge."

The warden looked greatly concerned.

"There is something amiss, my lady—I know not what. I will swear that Hubert is faithful and Piers, who is—"

"That's So Much Bluff," said I.

watchman tonight, is a man of his word. Yet, as I tell them, they might have no eyes nor ears."

"There is something amiss," said Helena. "Double the watchmen, Florin, and stop all leave. Two porters are to stay in the lodge and to keep a list of all persons that use the bridge. No postern is to be opened without permission from me. Why were the servants abed when I came in?"

"By his lordship's orders, my lady."

"Those orders are cancelled—until his lordship returns. And now rouse his lordship's valet and let him prepare the room in the eastern tower—the room above mine. Mr. Spencer will sleep there tonight. And rouse Rachel, as well. She will make my room ready and wait till I come. One thing more. She drew out her master key. 'Here is my key, Florin. You may as well keep it for me until I need it again.'"

The warden bowed and took it.

"Will your ladyship speak to the men?"

"Not tonight. I've changed my mind. But please see that they do their duty. I've a definite feeling of danger—very pressing danger, Florin; so please beware."

"Rest assured, my lady, nothing that I can do shall be left undone."

Helena smiled and nodded, and the warden bowed low. Then he bowed to me, but not Pharaoh, and left the room.

"I congratulate you," said Pharaoh, "upon your quickness of wit. I had to give you some rope and you used it all."

Helena took her seat in a high-backed chair.

"I rather fancy," she said, "you'd have done the same."

"I don't know that I should have," said Pharaoh, wrinkling his brow. "I believe in a margin of safety. . . . Now why do you think the warden ignored me when he went out?"

Helena shrugged her shoulders.

"Perhaps you don't command his respect."

Pharaoh fingered his chin.

"Dewdrop," he said quietly.

One of the curtains swayed, and Dewdrop stepped out.

"Concentrate on that warden, Dewdrop. You heard what her ladyship said. If he seems to be getting ideas, you must act for the best. The situation is delicate, Dewdrop, for what are we among so many? And now cover Mr. Spencer. I want to talk."

As Dewdrop moved towards me, he took his seat on a sofa and crossed his legs.

Pharaoh was looking at Helena, smiling an insolent smile.

"I'm afraid it's clear," he drawled, "that you didn't expect me so soon."

He sighed. "That's been the misfortune of so many people I've known. Some of them are still living. You see, a car came by, and its owner gave me a lift. To be perfectly frank, he surrendered the wheel to Dewdrop without a word. You know, I can't help feeling you ought to have thought of that."

"I agree," said Helena, shortly. "That was a bad mistake."

"But the only one," said Pharaoh. "Indeed, if I may say so, I'm much impressed. Mr. Spencer's quite a good chauffeur—I'm sure of that, but only a brain in a thousand would have thought of abducting the Count."

Helena stared.

"Are you being humorous?"

"No," said Pharaoh quietly. "I'm simply giving you the answer to a simple addition sum. As it's very short, I'll do it over again. . . . You left the castle as I was approaching the bridge. In fact, I was able to cross it while Hubert—the faithful Hubert—was closing the wicket, before he re-entered the lodge. That's why he didn't see me. But that's by the way. . . . Well, I found your departure astounding. I mean, on the face of it, once you had gained the castle, to deliberately leave it was the act of a fool. But you are no fool, Lady Helena. . . . I was still considering this paradox, when I found the postern ajar. I confess that helped me a lot—in more ways than one. And the moment I heard that the Count of York was missing, the sum came out." He uncrossed his legs and leaned forward. "Let me put some cards on the table. I want you to see that, if for no other reason, because you have scruples you are weighted clean out of this race. You see, I am not so embarrassed—I never am. Now take tonight. Placed as you were, once I was back in the castle, nothing this side of hell would have got me out. Yet the Count would have disappeared. Now there's a little problem—which I will resolve. I assume he was drunk—forgive me, but he usually is by ten. Well, they say blood's thicker than water, but I never found it so. I should have dropped him gently into the moat. . . . Perhaps you think I'm bluffing. Let me tell you what happened tonight. I wanted a car—badly, and I took the first that came by. Well, that was against the law. By taking that car I offended the law and order—two inconvenient gods. They therefore had to be sidetracked. . . . What is left of that car is lying on its side in a gully, it's still burning—with the man it belonged to inside."

This recital was dreadful enough, but Pharaoh lent it a horror that made my blood run cold.

"Are you seeking to frighten us?" Helena said.

Pharaoh sat back.

"No," he said, smiling. "Only to open your eyes."

He glanced at his watch. "Dear, dear, a quarter to two. It's far too late to discuss my mission tonight. If you'll promise me one or two things—well, I daresay your room is ready—" he raised his eyes to the ceiling "—and the room above yours."

"You insolent swine!" I roared. "If you think—"

The sentence ended in a manner which I should like to forget. I yelped with pain, leaped from my seat on the table and swung about, smarting and furious, to face Dewdrop's leveled pistol some three feet away.

The Jew had pricked my buttock with the blade of his knife.

I hesitated, trembling with rage and desperately weighing the chances of an immediate attack. Fire upon me they dared not.

Helena's arm was about my shoulders, and her cool, slim hand on my wrist.

"Not that way, my darling, I beg you. Let me play the hand."

"I entirely agree," said Pharaoh. "You're much too mutton-fisted. But you mustn't become abusive. That's really all Dewdrop meant."

"All right," I said thickly. "You play it. I'll manage to hide my time."

The clasp on my shoulders tightened, but that was all.

"What terms," said Helena, quietly, "do you suggest?"

"Your word that you will do nothing before midday. That at that hour you two will be here, to take up the same positions you now lay down. That you will give no orders and make no sort of statement which might correct the impression that I am your guest. In a word, I desire your parole—the parole of you both."

"I give it," said Helena, quietly.

"And Mr. Spencer?" said Pharaoh. "Before I could speak—"

"I pledge his word," said Helena.

"That's good enough," said Pharaoh. "Allow me to wish you good night."

He bowed and turned to the door. "Come, Dewdrop," he said.

Half an hour had gone by, and I was sitting, brooding, on the side of my bed. I was clad in the Count's pajamas and was wearing his dressing-gown. I had cleansed myself in the bathroom and stanchied my wound. This, of course, was nothing, but because it was deep, it had bled a deal more freely than I had supposed. It certainly ached a little, but I was more hungry than hurt.

I needed food very badly—to help me, body and soul. Sleep was out of the question. Besides, I did not feel tired. . . .

Crocheting an Afghan,
Tomorrow's Heirloom

PATTERN 5254

What more conducive to "forty winks" than this fluffy, lacy afghan! Its crocheted warmth will ward off the most treacherous draughts, its color brighten and gladden any room it adorns. A very simple pattern to follow, too. The stripes look like tiny daisies strung together, and are in a crochet stitch which busy hands and needle soon learn to do by heart. Lovely in three shades of one color, it is also effective with each stripe a different color.

In pattern 5254 you will find directions for making the afghan; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements, and color suggestions.

Woman Linguist Maintains

Vow of Silence 25 Years

Anne Louise Reinzi, of Boston, could talk fluently in seven languages. But for more than 25 years she uttered not a single syllable of one of them to a living soul!

In 1910 she became a recluse, locking the door of her home to all visitors. Gas, electricity and water companies had to turn off supplies because she refused to admit their inspectors. Recently kindly neighbors grew anxious when she was not seen about. Police were called, battered down doors, found her lying on the floor with a fractured leg. She was rushed to a hospital, where she died, aged ninety.—Pearson's Weekly.

Our Bathing Beach!

Another Sunday is almost here! There will be thousands of visitors from all over the country at the beaches as the water is warm enough now for enjoyable bathing.

Are the beaches ready? Are Coronado and Mission Beaches welcoming these visitors, as is Ocean Beach, with sands strewn with drying kelp and swarming flies? Surely such a welcome is not an inducement to linger for bathing nor to look for dwellings.

If the City Council has been approached and cannot be interested in the cleaning of this beautiful beach, why cannot the citizens arm themselves with rakes and clear it? Co-operation is needed and when it cannot be obtained from city officials, it should be used between the citizens.

If the reputation of Ocean Beach as a clean beach might be obtained, it would be crowded with bathers from now thru September instead of the few who now brave the flies and disorder. If it cannot be made a matter of civic pride, it should be looked at as a matter of dollars and cents—unfortunately the standpoint from which most things seem to be viewed nowadays. Most visitors would spend at least a few cents for food, gasoline, etc., and it would be worthwhile for the property owners and merchants to go to the beach with rakes toward the end of each week.

People who are looking for homes near the sea will most assuredly not be apt to locate near an untidy beach.

If we would borrow some traits from our sturdy pioneer ancestors, even in such little matters, who knows but that we might be able to use these traits in cleaning up greater and more dangerous situations which are endangering our rights more and more each day?—F. B.
